

Arcangelo Ambrosi

Arcangelo Ambrosi was born in Bari in 1988. He lives and works in Bitonto (Puglia, Italy).

He has a degree in Computer Science and Technologies for Software Production (2012).

He began his approach with woodworking from an early age and he has always been self-taught. He started making electric stringed musical instrument for passion, in 2005.

He started making wooden props, sculptural works and tobacco pipes in 2013. Towards the latter, he has developed particular interest and has begun to create and sell his own pipe lines.

In 2015 he has registered as individual company, and he has started working fulltime on wood. In the same year he started a 5-years sculpture project in collaboration with artist Bianca Roselli experimenting the interaction between light and wood. Their works have been exhibited in various artist collective in Puglia.

In 2018 he was invited as a guest artist to "Fantastika" (Dozza, BO, Italy), biennial of fantasy art.

In 2019 he has written an article about sculptural pipe-making for the Italian wood magazine "LegnoLab".
